

Want to use an AWAC members-only resource but you're not sure how to become a member?

- ✚ First, see if you work for an institution that holds an AWAC institutional membership. Institutional memberships are an affordable way to provide access to all AWAC resources and events for faculty, staff and graduate students. Check to see if your institution is already on the AWAC Institutional Membership List.
- ✚ If you'd like to have your institution join AWAC you can review our institutional membership levels or simply contact us for more information.
- ✚ If you don't want to join as an institutional member you can always join as an individual full-time professional member—which is very affordable and valuable.
- ✚ Benefits of Membership Include
 - Opportunities to help shape and contribute to this new WAC organization
 - Opportunities to participate in WAC mentorship, research networks, and writing groups
 - Access to members-only resources, including (virtual) workshops, awards, and travel or research grants
 - Discount on registration for International Writing Across the Curriculum Conference (IWAC)
 - Opportunities to apply for awards and grants
 - Discounts on affiliated WAC events and sponsored panels
 - Professional affiliation with AWAC
 - Eligibility to be members of AWAC Committees
 - Eligibility to stand for election and vote on AWAC matters

We hope you join us in the growing Writing Across the Curriculum movement and that we see you at an upcoming event this year.
